Amelio, an HKMP Technologies Product, Selected for New AICPA Interactive Tax Checklists

NEW YORK--On December 20, 2011, the American Institute of CPAs (AICPA) launched its industry leading Interactive Tax Checklists in a web-based format using the Amelio® platform. Recognizing the need to deliver content through a modern online tool that supports today's CPAs, the AICPA chose HKMP Technologies' Amelio as the best solution to bring its flagship Tax Practice Guides and Checklists to the cloud.

Amelio's workflow enabled forms and checklists pair with AICPA's trusted content to create a simple, highly interactive tool for tax practitioners. The new Interactive Tax Checklists offer state-of-the-art, technology-driven features of the Amelio platform that boost CPAs' productivity and efficiency. Features and benefits include:

- Easy to build, easy to use workflow-enabled forms and checklists make complex processes simple to monitor and manage
- Logic-driven content allows branching of forms to provide ease of use and efficiency
- Virtual collaboration eliminates the time-consuming need to track, save, and send multiple versions of the same document
- Reviews, comments, sign-offs, and dashboard updates show tracking of which checklist items are open and need to be closed out
- PDF versions of the checklists and documents are available for use offline, including archiving, inclusion with tax return workpapers, or client meetings
- Data security through enterprise-level encryption

"We are pleased that Amelio was chosen for this important AICPA project and we think the Interactive Tax Checklists is an incredible resource for tax practitioners. We look forward to a continued, productive partnership with the AICPA."

According to Stephen Barrett of HKMP Technologies, "The goal of Amelio is to make forms and processes related to these forms easier to manage. Whether you are an accounting firm looking to streamline audit procedures, a hedgefund compliance officer, or a risk manager of a company trying to ensure that the appropriate procedures are followed in order to be compliant, Amelio may offer multiple solutions." Mr. Barrett continued, "We are pleased that Amelio was chosen for this important AICPA project and we think the Interactive Tax Checklists is an incredible resource for tax practitioners. We look forward to a continued, productive partnership with the AICPA."
